RUN DOWN BY DETECTIVES

FORMER CHICAGO WOMAN UNDER ARREST

Accused of Perjury in Suit Against Chicago Railway Co. for $50,000 for Alleged Personal Injuries.

New York, Oct. 7.—Inga Hanson, a young woman who two years ago sued the Chicago City Railway company for $50,000 for alleged personal injuries, was arrested here to day on a charge of perjury in connection with that suit. The arrest was made on complaint of a Chicago detective, who said he had traced the young woman to this city, and who appeared against her when she was arraigned in court to day. After the hearing she was remanded to the toms to await extradition papers. The detective said he was instructed to locate the woman, who disappeared after the Chicago trial, and that he found her in this city. She was living in luxurious surroundings, he said in court, and was neither blind nor paralytic. Her arrest and arraignment followed.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Miss Hanson brought suit against the street car company in this city, claiming damages of $50,000 for injuries said to have been received, and which she claimed had made her a cripple for life. She was carried into court on a stretcher and declared she was unable to walk. Detectives employed to watch her testified she was able to walk and care for herself without assistance of any kind when she was away from the court room. On this evidence the jury decided against her and the case was later thrown out of court.

PAYNE'S FUNERAL

Services Held in Washington—Start to Milwaukee With Body.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Although the official funeral services in St. John's church to day over the body of the late Henry C. Payne, postmaster general, were marked by impressive simplicity, official Washington filled the nave of the church and brilliant as were the uniforms of the large representation from the army, navy and marine corps, the solemnity of the scene was only enhanced by the sharp contrast of color with the deep mourning of the family and personal friends of the deceased. Side by side with Mrs. Payne sat President and Mrs. Roosevelt, both in deep mourning.

In a half hour the funeral procession veered its way slowly down Pennsylvania avenue, escorted by postal carriers in uniform, to the Pennsylvania station, whence the body was taken this afternoon on a special train to Milwaukee. Interment will be in that city.

Secretary Hitchcock, who expected to go to Milwaukee on the train, was unable to do so and telephoned the fact, with regrets, early in the afternoon. The attack upon King Leopold was made by E. T. Morrell, of England, who represented the Congo Reform association. Morrell charged the king with personally being responsible in a large measure for the cruelties practiced on natives of Congo Free State, in terrific endeavors of monopolistic organizations to obtain from the country all the ivory possible.

The king was defended by George Herbert, of Cambridge, England, who said that King Leopold had done all possible to stop cruelties practiced.

LADY CURZON

Condition of the Patient Continues Grave.

Walmer Castle, Kent, Oct. 8.—Lady Curzon was yesterday seized with chilliness and rigors, portending a crisis. It appears there was some secretion that had possibly been overlooked in the first operation or that formed subsequently, which led to apprehension that a second operation for peritonitis might be necessary, and hence a hurried summoning of specialists from London. Mrs. and Miss Lettice, who were staying at Deal, also were summoned in the belief that the end was not far distant. No bulletin has been issued since 6:25 p. m., but early this morning (Saturday) it is understood the condition of Lady Curzon continues grave.

STORM INTERFERES

Active Sea Operations at Port Arthur Prevented by Heavy Gale.

Continuance of the gale which developed on the China sea and adjacent waters Oct. 4 precludes active operations by the Japanese fleet blockading Port Arthur. The British steamer Sishan with a cargo of cattle and flour, from Shanghai for Port Arthur, has been seized by the Japanese off New Chwang.

A detachment of Finland guards has been ordered to leave St. Petersburg for the far east.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 7.—A special dispatch from Mukden, dated Oct. 7, says there has been no change of importance in the general situation there. The blockade of Port Arthur appears not to have been so effective as a number of messengers have slipped through. The latest advices stated the fortress was sufficiently amply provisioned to enable the garrison to hold out nine months.

Governor Bates and other state officials, with the exception of treasurer, were renominated by acclamation. A. D. Chapin was renominated for treasurer. Resolutions adopted pledge unwavering support to Roosevelt and Fairbanks and endorse the national platform. A feeling tribute is paid the late Senator Hoar. The reciprocity plank, over which there was some difficulty in reaching an agreement, says:

"We believe all further measures should be taken toward negotiating reciprocity treaties with foreign countries, especially with Canada and New Zealand, upon such terms and conditions as will secure enlargement of our foreign trade, wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistently with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, labor or industries or when, as President Roosevelt said in his message of 1902, the 'minimum of damage done may be disregarded for the sake of the maximum of good accomplished.'"

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Boston, Oct. 7.—A state ticket and presidential electors were nominated to day by the Democratic state convention, which assembled at noon.

In a speech Nathan Matthews, permanent chairman, said at the present time the commercial outlook for New England is darker than at any time since the war of 1812. This, he said, is doubtless due in part to natural causes which no government can honestly promise to correct, but they are also in a great part due to artificial trade conditions brought about by Republican commercial policies. Mention of Parker's commercial policy, which was also made by Governor Bates, was met with great cheering.

William L. Douglas for governor and John C. Crosby for lieutenant governor were nominated by acclamation. The platform endorses the national candidates; congratulates the country upon removal of the so-called money question from the speech of political controversy; demands tariff reform, reciprocity with Canada, enforcement of law against monopolies and separation of the executive, judiciary and legislative branches of the government, charging that Roosevelt had usurped powers designated to congress and the judiciary by the constitution to the executive.

IMPROVED CONDITIONS

BUSINESS OUTLOOK GROWS STEADILY BRIGHTER

Confidence Increased by Fact Crops Almost Beyond Danger, Idle Machinery Resuming and Prices of Securities High.

New York, Oct. 7.—Dun's review of trade says: With crops almost beyond danger, prices of securities at the highest since May, 1903, idle machinery resuming at many factories and mills that have been closed for months started, the business outlook grows steadily brighter. By far the best feature of the situation is the confidence manifested by increased disposition to provide for future requirements, particularly among dealers in agricultural supplies. Mercantile collections are more prompt and railway earnings for September were 3.8 per cent larger than in the same month last year, while foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows increases of $1,651,298 in imports and $10,748 in exports, compared with a year ago. Dispatches from leading cities are almost unanimous in telling of improved conditions. For the first time in many months it is possible to report that sellers of pig iron appear to have a slight advantage. It is more difficult to find evidence of increased movement of steel, although fair tonnage was taken for railways. Actual business in finished steel is restricted, but improvement in sentiment is unmistakable and might be followed very soon by something more tangible. Export trade is also promising. Footwear factories report a large demand for quick shipment of all shoes, machinery being fully occupied for the time on this business, but there is some uneasiness regarding the future, because spring orders come forward less freely. A little better demand appeared in primary markets for cotton goods, but it was checked later in the week when manufacturers failed to make concessions. Duplicate orders for men's wear, workmen and workmen are also coming to the mills, which are busy making deliveries on old contracts. Failures this week in the United States were 22, against 239 the corresponding week last year.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Bradstreet's report says: Popular estimates of the leading crop yields continue to enlarge, corn has passed out of danger of serious frost in the west and distribution, both wholesale and retail, expands as cooler weather approaches. Additional favorable features are continuance of good tone in pig iron free buying by railroads of material and rolling stock and heavy general crop movement helping collections north and south. While buying of dry goods, hardware, groceries, shoes and clothing continues of good volume, particularly at the west, conservative influences and reflection in small but frequent orders, calculated to meet requirements. The transportation movement is heavy, and railway earnings show an expanding tendency, the rail for September promising to be six per cent over September, 1903. Relatively the most activity in current distribution, whether of dry goods, shoes, clothing, lumber, hardware or building material, exists in the west and northwest. In the east business is not so active in some industrial centers, which have felt the pinch of spring and summer depression in building or in textile industry. Some eastern industries, like machinery and tool making, jewelry and silverware manufacturing, are looking up, however. Coal trade shows little improvement.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week were 3,105,000 bushels, against 2,370,000 last year; July 1 to date, 18,540,000 bushels, against 12,670,000 last year. Corn exports for the week were 653,000 bushels, against 1,101,000 a year ago; July 1 to date, 8,100,000 bushels, against 13,820,000 in 1903.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Mrs. Nation was fined $150, and given six months in jail. Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Wilho were fined $150 each and Mrs. Mounts $50. They will appeal the case.

BINGHAMTON MAN IN TUCK.

"Jones, of Binghamton," was in town last night, not he who "pays the freight," but John C. Jones, as he registered at the Dunlap hotel.

For a few hours Jones was sad and despondent, and was not afraid to tell his troubles. Later in the day he was the happiest stranger within our gates, when he came up to the clerk of the Dunlap and whispered, "I found 'em; got 'em down at Armstrong & Armstrong's drug store."

Now I can eat a good dinner and look forward to smoking a Wadsworth Bro's "Chico" afterward. Armstrong & Armstrong say they have not had the "Chico's" in stock very long, but they are already making a lot of friends.

"Strange how homesick it makes a man to lean over a cigar case and not see a brand that he ever heard of before. That was the way I felt all day, but when I went into Armstrong & Armstrong's drug store and saw my old friend, the Wadsworth Bro's "Chico's," I knew there was a good smoke coming to yours truly.
It only costs 5 cents, but there is no 10c cigar that is as good, and I have smoked most of them."

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia.
It is also a certain cure for croup.
Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by all leading druggists.

Polls of the first voters in various portions of the country indicate that 90 per cent of the young men will vote for Roosevelt. There is something attractive about the president and his career that appeals strongly to the youth of the land.

Where now would be our finances, our revenues, our domestic industries and our foreign trade if the Democratic party had succeeded in 1896 or in 1900? Where will they be four years hence if a Democratic president and congress should be elected next November?

It is said in New York that if Judge Herrick is elected governor this fall there will be nothing voluntary about the retirement of David B. Hill from active participation in state politics on Jan. 1, 1905. There is no room on the same mountain top at the same time for two such organizers as Herrick and Hill.

Edward M. Shepard in 1897 denounced Tammany as "a foul blot on civilization," and in 1904 Tammany took a hole in the Shepard boom so rugged that the special favor of Judge Parker and Chairman Sheehan could not inflate it sufficiently to justify a nominating speech.

The Dingley tariff law, now in force, and the sound currency act establishing the gold standard are the two great achievements of the Republican party since the beginning of the McKinley administration. As a result of these acts we have boundless industry and a sound currency with which to conduct it. The Democratic party opposed both.

Protection has done more for the American workman and farmer than any other policy carried out by Republicans. If "protection is robbery," as the Democratic platform asserts, the only persons "robbed" are the manufacturers of Europe. American workmen certainly do not suffer from protection. They are the chief beneficiaries of the greatest of Republican policies. Without a protective tariff wages would soon drop to the European level, which is from 60 to 100 per cent below the rate now paid in the United States.

Democracy's effort to show that times have not been good under Roosevelt's administration, is a ludicrous performance. The compilation of all the strikes which have taken place in the last three years, instead of showing lack of prosperity, indicates the country has been unusually prosperous. Strikes are a rarity in bad times. Workmen demand higher wages only when business is good. They are astute enough to know that they stand a better chance of getting what they want when factories are flooded with orders than when they are running on short time.

"LEST WE FORGET."
Many times the "anti-imperialists" have taken pleasure in years gone by in using the above well known quotation. Now that their dish of error is before them it will be well to remind them of some things they may have forgotten. Among them the choice bits of the past are quoted.

"Parker is so near defeat that Colonel Bryan might have been easier with him in his Chicago speech," Courier, April 20.

"Judge Parker might well say in imitation of the gentleman who had been nominated for coroner, with no chance of success at the polls, but a great many compliments from his friends: 'Everything looks well but the prospects.'"—Courier, May 9.

"Judge Parker's friends claim that he would make a good president. So would Pyatt's Indian, and for the same reasons."—Courier, April 21.

"The platform of the New York state convention is what Governor Altgeld used to call a colorless document, and what Billy Mason describes as a good piece of rubber."—Courier, April 21.

Speaking of Parker's possible nomination, W. J. Bryan said July 2 in St. Louis: "Among the radical Democrats the feeling is that the party must not be surrendered into the hands of Wall street. The influences back of the Parker candidacy are so intimately associated with the trusts and great corporations that the Democratic party cannot appeal to the masses. The second objection is one that will carry weight with the conservatives; he cannot win. It is becoming more and more apparent that he will prove a weak candidate and this is robbing him of whatever strength he had among the men whose first desire is to win."

Had this appeared in a Republican paper it would have been promptly denounced as a campaign lie, but it is the words of the man twice nominated for president by the Democracy; the man yet regarded as the Moses of the party; the one who will lead it to reorganization four years hence. Mr. Bryan was right then, though he has been egregiously wrong on a good many subjects, but he said truly that Parker's candidacy is intimately associated with the trusts and great corporations; that he cannot win; that it is becoming more and more apparent that he will prove a weak candidate.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Elderberry Wine With Raisins.
Take thirty pounds of Malaga raisins, add eight gallons of water to them and allow them to steep for twelve days. Draw off the liquor and put it into a copper with two gallons of elderberry juice. Boil for ten minutes, removing all the scum as it rises. Then add seven pounds of moist sugar, one-half ounce of allspice, one-half ounce of cloves and two ounces of Jamaica ginger, all well bruised. Boil again for an hour, skimming thoroughly. Draw it off and float some toast covered with yeast in it. Leave it to work for two or three days. Then pour into a clean cask, and when all fermentation is over bung tightly down. If made in September, it will be ready to tap by Christmas and should be bottled in January or March.

Cleaning Statuoties.
Nothing takes the dust more freely than plaster objects, more or less artistic, which are the modest ornaments of our dwellings. They rapidly contract a yellow gray color of unpleasant appearance.

Here is a practical method for restoring the whiteness: Take finely powdered starch, quite white, and make a thick paste with hot water. Apply when still hot with a flexible spatula or a brush on the plaster object. The layer should be quite thick. Let it dry slowly. On drying the starch will split and scale off. All soiled parts of the plaster will adhere and be drawn off with the scales.

DANGER IN FALL COLDS.

Fall colds are liable to hang on all winter leaving the seeds of pneumonia, bronchitis or consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar cures quickly and prevents serious results. It is old and reliable, tried and tested, safe and sure. Contains no opiates and will not constipate. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

FEATURES OF MUKDEN

It is the Most Sacred City in the Chinese Empire.

STREETS FULL OF FINE CARVINGS

Capital of Manchuria, Japan's Object, Five Points, is Surrounded by a Great Wall With Picturesque High Towers at the Eight Gates and Angles. Burial Site of Manchou Emperors.

Mukden, the Japanese objective, is the most important of all the noted cities in Manchuria, says the New York Times. It is the capital and the wealthiest city of this great territory.

The veneration of the Chinese for Mukden can hardly be realized by occidental peoples. The feeling of the English for Westminster abbey, of the Italians for Rome, may serve to give an idea of it. But in the far east the veneration for the past, as expressed in the worship of ancestors, is actually an important part of religious belief, and for this reason Mukden is the most sacred city in the whole great Chinese empire.

Mukden is the ancient capital of the present dynasty of China. It was there that in the year 1025 Nurhachi, the famous founder of that dynasty, established himself. It was there that the ancestors of the Manchou emperors were buried.

Mukden stands in the middle of a great alluvial plain about 320 feet above the level of the sea. All the soil around it is rich and highly cultivated. It is reputed to have a population of 200,000, chiefly Chinese. The houses, both those of the Chinese mandarins and merchants and those of new Russian construction, are built on a magnificent scale.

There is a "forbidden city" in Mukden like the one in Peking, but while the Boxer outbreak of 1900 was followed by the entry of the allies into the hitherto mysterious palaces within the inner walls of Peking, so far as is known no European or American has ever penetrated into the forbidden city of Mukden. It is believed to contain wonderful treasures of ancient art and buildings which surpass in beauty and elaborateness even those at Peking.

Judging from the portions of the city which foreigners are allowed to see, the place must be a very treasure house of the art of the old Chinese. Even the streets are full of carvings of a delicacy unattainable in modern work, while the tombs of the emperors combine a purity of design with an elaboration of detail which show how far the art of China has deteriorated from the old standards.

The city is surrounded by a great brick wall with picturesque high towers at the eight gates and the angles. Outside are the suburbs, enclosed by a mud wall, while in the middle of the city are the ancient palaces of the Manchou emperors inside a third wall. The streets of Mukden are broad and straight. Like Peking, the city possesses a drum tower and a huge bell. The administration buildings and the hall of examinations are within the precincts of the forbidden city.

The early history of the warlike monarchs whose chief city was Mukden, and who in the seventeenth century became the rulers of the whole Chinese empire, is veiled in legend. Three heaven born maidens, so the story runs, were bathing one day in a lake near the Shanlin mountains when a passing magpie dropped a ripe red fruit into the lap of one of them. The maiden ate the fruit, and in due course a child was born to her, whom she named Aisin Gioro, or the Golden. When Aisin Gioro was a lad he was elected chief over three contending clans. His reign was not of long duration, for his subjects rose against him and murdered him, together with all his sons except the youngest, Fancha, who was miraculously saved from his pursuers.

It was Aisin Gioro who named his people Manchou, which means "pure." His descendants, through the rescued Fancha, fell into obscurity until the middle of the sixteenth century, when one of them, Nurhachi, born in 1559, the seventh in descent from Aisin Gioro, welded the Manchou tribes into one great kingdom. The emperor, Nurhachi, toward the close of his long and illustrious reign transferred his capital to Mukden, and his tomb there is the most venerated of all the royal tombs of the city.

In 1617 Nurhachi drew up a list of "seven hates" against the Chinese, and declared war on them. The Chinese were defeated with great slaughter and seventy cities were captured. The war was followed by an alliance between the Manchous and the Chinese, who were then ruled over by the Ming dynasty. The later emperors of this dynasty were weak and cowardly, and China was continually invaded by the Tartars. In the end the Manchous were begged to save the country. They consented with great alacrity to send an army, and the result of it all was that in 1644 the grandson of Nurhachi ascended the dragon throne without serious opposition on the part of the Chinese. He was Sunchi, the first of the Manchou dynasty, which has retained the throne of China ever since.

Mukden is identified with all that is glorious in the records of the Manchou emperors, and the Manchou people, who have become so intermingled with the Chinese that the veneration for the city is shared by all the inhabitants of northern China. Under these circumstances the feeling government's anxiety as to the fate of Mukden can be understood.

REPUBLICANS

AT WOODSON

Enthusiastic Gathering at Col-ton's Hall—Addresses by Judge Layman and Hon. J. J. Reeve.

The Republicans of Woodson precinct held an enthusiastic meeting in Colton's hall Friday evening, when stirring addresses were made by Judge M. T. Layman and Hon. John J. Reeve.

The Woodson Brass band was in attendance and furnished a fine program of music before the meeting began, and the Murrayville Glee club also contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion by their well rendered songs.

When the hour for the speaking arrived an audience of nearly two hundred persons was present. The speakers discussed the issues of the campaign in a clear, logical and forceful manner and presented many facts that appealed to the good judgment and common sense of the audience present. The addresses of both gentlemen were frequently interrupted with applause and the meeting was indeed a grand success, and shows that the Republicans of the district are thoroughly aroused and in earnest in their support of the ticket, national, state and county.

C. L. Hayden, candidate for circuit clerk, and Dr. Spencer, candidate for coroner, were also present at the meeting and made short talks.

CARNIVAL QUEEN

Miss Julia O'Brien Again Heads the List—How the Vote Stands

There was no change in the leaders of the big queen's contest yesterday, but the friends of all the candidates seem confident. The greatest gain made was that of Miss Hulda Hardin, she taking fourth place. A new candidate has also entered, Miss Rita McFattion. Votes are still being held back, but from now on the changing in positions among the candidates is certain to be as active as popping corn over a hot fire. The Hoffman Bros. window has been decorated for the queen and the diamond ring will be placed there on exhibition to day. The vote:

Miss Julia O'Brien	1,702
Miss Ethel Sperry	1,641
Miss Mollie Cully	821
Miss Hulda Hardin	820
Miss Rose Devlin	616
Miss Mamie Nunes	459
Miss Mae Mason	258
Miss Mae Hickman	143
Miss Maggie Coffman	141
Miss Edith Vasconcelos	127
Miss Myrtle Slaughter	109
Miss Grace Simms	85
Miss Etta McFattion	85

AT THE GRAND.

Hal Reid's "A Midnight Marriage" was staged by the Forrester & Mitchell company at the Grand Friday night before a small house. The play has the usual male and female villains and their opposites, and the parts were taken in the main by good actors. The thrilling situations were frequently applauded and the audience seemed to enjoy the show. The stage settings were good.

NEVER ASK ADVICE.

When you have a cough or cold don't ask what is good for it and get some medicine with little or no merit and perhaps dangerous. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy; it cures coughs and colds quickly. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

The Home Nurse.

For colic or cholera morbus apply heat to the affected parts, either in the form of a hot water bag, hot plates or a bottle filled with scalding hot water. Mustard plasters should also be used. In case of colic a warm enema will sometimes give immediate relief.

For dysentery or diarrhea ginger tea, peppermint or hot blackberry cordial. Keep the patient quiet and warm.

For croup keep the room warm and apply mild mustard plasters for a few moments to the soles of the feet and chest. In the meantime heat flannels in the oven and apply to the throat.

Easy Way to Take Castor Oil.

Castor oil may be most easily taken mingled with orange juice, a little sugar being added if the juice of the orange is not sweet. The difference between this and any other mode of taking this valuable medicine is surprising. Into a very thin glass a portion of the juice should be squeezed. Then the oil should be poured upon this, and more juice should be squeezed upon the oil, which may be seen to float in a layer between the two layers of orange juice. If the edge of the glass is rubbed with orange the fruit will be the only thing tasted as the dose slides down the throat.

No danger of consumption if you use Foley's Honey and Tar to cure that stubborn cough. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

SAYS HE CAN PROVE IT.

Willis McDonald called at the Journal office last evening with a story of phenomenal celerity in well digging. He says Bernie Gause wanted a well and employed Willis to search for the precious fluid which nature has kindly hidden in the earth for the use of man. Willis had Gus Coffman and another man to hoist and dispose of the dirt as it was placed in the bucket by the digger. The place is rather low and water was struck at four feet, which materially hindered the work, but in spite of it all Willis says he had the well down sixteen feet when it was deemed sufficiently deep, so he proceeded to wall it up and had the whole thing done, with the exception of a little grading, in five hours from the time he broke ground in the morning. All who want testimony on the subject may see Gus Coffman or Mr. Gause. Willis says he dug a well twenty-four feet deep and walled it all in a day last year. He has rather better proof than did the old fellow who said he went down to the spring to get a drink and while there the angel Gabriel came down and spoke to him and if anybody doubted the story he would take them to the spot and show them the gourd he drinking from at the time.

BRONCHITIS FOR 20 YEARS.

Mrs. Minerva Smith, of Danville, Ill., writes: "I had bronchitis for twenty years and never got relief until I used Foley's Honey and Tar, which is a sure cure." Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

A wise guy puts it thusly: "Do not trust to your railroad, nor your telegraphs, nor your schools, as a test of civilization; the real refinement of a nation is to be found in the justice of its ideals and the courtesy of its manners."

CURED HEMORRHAGE OF THE LUNGS.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." For sale by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

The Dentist Monk and the Pope.
"I have drawn 2,000,644 teeth," said the dentist monk of Rome recently before his death.
No charge was made, and the priest worked in the open air in the garden of his monastery, and used no instruments but his thumb and forefinger. Leo XIII. was one of his clients, and Pope Pius IX. said to him once:
"Dear brother, I should like very much to have a tooth pulled by you."
"Oh, holy father!"
"But it is impossible."
"Oh! Why?" said the monk.
"Because," returned the pope quietly, "I have none left to pull."
—Rome Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

The Door to Open.
"It is not often," said a broker,
"that James R. Keene answers strangers' letters. The other day, though, he broke his rule of silence.
A country lad out in Indiana wrote him. The lad wanted to come to New York and make his fortune, and he asked Mr. Keene to tell him how to go about the matter. 'As I stand in the broad avenue of life,' said the boy, 'I find so many closed doors before me that I don't know which of them to open. How can I distinguish the door that will lead me to success?' There is only one door for you to take," Mr. Keene answered. "It is the one labeled push."

Writes Without Hands.
One of the most remarkable personages in Pennsylvania is Abraham B. Myers. With only stumps of arms he writes a very legible hand, holding the pen between the stumps of his arms, without artificial assistance. He is a marksman of no mean ability, and pulls the trigger by means of a twine, the end of which he grips in his teeth. He plays pool and billiards and even shoots horseback.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of unruly difficulties. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M.
Summers, Box 405, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother.
She asks no money. Write her to day if your children trouble you in this way.
Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it.

Treatment of Children Afflicted With Intestinal Worms.

Worms multiply rapidly in debilitated persons, especially children, living in cold and damp regions. Impure water, unripe fruits and underdone meats are conducive to the development of worms. Sunshine and heat are influences against them. For the tapeworm the liquid extract of fern root is highly recommended; about a scruple beaten up with the yolk of one egg, a little water and a teaspoon of sirup of orange peel. A decoction of the root of the pomegranate tree is good, and oil of turpentine has been used with success.

The large round worm which occurs in the intestines is in appearance very much like the common earthworm, sometimes reaching fifteen inches in length. Its mouth is formed for suction, and it does not work its way through the walls of the intestines unless they are diseased. Serious results, and even death, are likely to follow if they find their way up into the stomach.
A tea made from pumpkin seeds is given to children with benefit.
Oil of turpentine is effective, and santonine is one of the sure remedies. It may be obtained at the druggists in the form of tablets or lozenges. One may also give the santonine in powder, from one-half grain to two grains (according to age of child), with a little rhubarb about the size of a pen.

Hot Water in Sickness.
No domestic remedy can equal hot water in cases of congestion of the lungs, rheumatism or sore throat if tried promptly and thoroughly.
An acute attack of croup will be usually relieved in ten minutes if a towel or strip of flannel folded lengthwise and dipped into hot water, then slightly wrung out, be placed around the neck of the sufferer and covered so as to retain the heat. The same placed over the seat of pain will in most cases quickly give relief in neuralgia and toothache and, laid over the stomach, acts like magic in attacks of colic. Headache almost always yields to the simultaneous application of hot water to the back of the neck and to the feet.

Wall Papers.

Conventionalized fruit designs, especially giant grapes, are fine for dining rooms.

Big blossoms are undeniably good for very large rooms, hydrangeas rivaling roses.

There's hardly a paper that cannot be successfully tortured into some sort of panel effect.

Old fashioned nosegays of small flowers strewn over a white ground make a pretty wall covering for a bedroom.

Though not new, one can hardly do better than cover country house bedrooms with white or pastel tinted moire paper, using a narrow floral or drapery border.

Flavors For Meats.

Certain flavors are more appetizing with some meats than with others.
Bits of meat are delicious when made into salads, and it is a dainty way to save the meat.

From bits of left over mutton make mutton salad, seasoning with mint or capers.

From left over chicken make a salad, using celery for flavoring.

A delicious beef salad can be made by chopping bits of left over beef and seasoning with tomatoes, cucumbers and bits of celery.

Treatment For Anaemia.

Pallor of the complexion is often one of the signs of anaemia, a complaint from which young girls very often suffer nowadays. For these an indoor life is exceedingly undesirable, and they should be out in the fresh air as much as possible.
A course of cod liver oil and iron is beneficial, and the diet should consist of milk and farinaceous foods, and a cold or tepid morning bath is excellent, as causing better circulation to the body.

To Clean Pewter.

Scour the pewter with a paste of silver sand and water, using an old brush covered with leather. Rinse the pewter well in cold water and polish with finely crushed dry whiting.

A Space Saving Device.

The cozy seats of bay windows instead of being made to do duty as chests for odds and ends about the room can serve as book shelves, accommodating one's pet volumes.

Tar on Clothing.

Rub a little lard on the spot and let it stand an hour or more until the tar is softened, when it may be washed out with hot water and soap.
Rinse in clear rain water.

Lace Curtains.

Before washing lace curtains soak them for a couple of hours in cold water. This will remove the dust and help to make them a good color.

THE YOUNG LECTURER

[Original.]

The young professor was lecturing to a mixed class of men and women.
His subject was mental philosophy,
and he was treating of the emotions.

"Love," he said, "is perhaps the emotion which is best calculated to illustrate the actual shallowness of our emotional natures. A man sees a woman whom he desires to possess. The faculty of imagination makes her a paragon in his eyes. Constant dwelling on one subject produces mania. If he marries the ceremony is scarcely performed before reality usurps the place so recently occupied by emotion, and the woman appears to him as her real self, with the particular faults belonging to that particular woman. If he does not marry he is in time cured of his mania, and the object that has excited it becomes commonplace to him. But he is not immune. The love emotion may again and again be excited. The object in each case being a different woman."

When the class was dismissed the students passed out of the lecture room, and if any of them dissented from his views the lecturer was not immediately aware of the fact. His remarks upon love produced no marked effect on the young men of his class, but among the girls there was a babel of tongues indignantly denouncing the lecturer's position, most of them averring that the "cococomb" had been killed.
One girl, and only one, stood by him, a modest feminine creature who would never be suspected of harboring such heretical sentiments. But as she had not cast off the awkwardness of her girlhood and answered to the commonplace name of Euphemia Smith the other girls declared that she agreed with the young professor because it was not probable that she would ever have a lover.

Ten years passed. The man who used his "chair" simply to gain a livelihood while he studied a profession had become an eminent attorney. He had been recently introduced to a lady who had taken possession of his heart.
He had forgotten his lectures on mental philosophy and on this particular occasion was declaring his passion.
Nevertheless he had formed mystical habits and must needs fall into them.

"There is nothing," he said, "that so strongly points to a divinity in our nature as love. Never have I been so impressed with this since my heart has been beating in unison with yours.
Selfishness dies in the presence of love as a noxious vapor is dispelled by the sun. It is my delight to serve you. I would even die for you. Every flash of your beautiful eyes, every note of your melodious voice, every one of your many adorable traits, impels me to cast myself at your feet and beg you to permit me to forego all selfish pleasure for the one supreme joy of being your slave."

"I regret," said the lady coolly, "that I cannot agree with you as to the nature of love. Love is perhaps the emotion best calculated to illustrate the actual shallowness of our emotional natures."

"How can you say that? You would not did you love as I love. My passion for you is not an emotion: it is akin to the nature of the great Creator, a spark from heaven, a blessed privilege beside which the pleasures, the ambitions, the successes of life dwindle into nothingness."

"The faculty of the imagination," she replied in an argumentative tone,
"makes me a paragon in your eyes.
Constant dwelling on one subject has produced mania. After marriage reality would usurp the place of emotion, and I would appear to you with the particular faults that belong to me individually."

"I would become every day, every hour, more and more devoted. If I am not blessed by being permitted to spend my life in loving you, the bright prospects before me will wither like burned parchment."

"On the contrary, you will soon be cured of your mania, and I shall become commonplace."

"I can never love another."

"You will not be immune. The emotion may again and again be excited, the object in each case being a different woman."

Something in the lady's eye—the suspicion of a smile—served to kindle the flame of memory. It rushed upon the lover that the object of his love had been quoting his own words.

"You are a graduate of —?"

"I am."

"And attended my lectures?"

"Strange," he said, "that I should not have remembered you. There was a girl—a Miss Smith—in the class of '92. I think, but she did not resemble you."

"Papa used to say that I looked like a colt when I was in my teens."

There was a short silence during which the man endeavored to recover from his confusion.

"What rot I must have talked in those days! I was infatuated with realism and materialism and all that I wonder that the college authorities appointed a boy of twenty-six to lecture on abstruse subjects. But how came you to remember so much trivdity?"

"There was a special cause."

She hung her head and toyed with a turquoise ring on her finger, the shade of her blue eyes. The man plucked up courage.

"Name it, sweetheart."

"I loved you."

He clasped her in his arms, and there was a moment—moments—long moments—of ecstatic silence. Then they cooed and cooed till the clock struck the first hour of the morning.

How to Make Cuts Little Owls From Tissue Paper.

Get a sheet of gray tissue paper and cut a piece six inches by ten in length. Sew up the sides like a paper bag, gather with double thread about an inch from the bottom and stuff with cotton to an inch of the top. Gather it an inch from the top to form the head. Cut two half inch circles of yellow paper, then cut a piece of tissue paper three-fourths of an inch wide and four or five long, gather on the lower edge and draw up tight to form a circle. Put a yellow circle in the middle of the brown one and a black shoe button in the center of the yellow circle for an eye. Sew these on at the top at the gathering string. Take a three cornered piece of brown muslin one and a quarter inches long and a half inch at the base, crease through the middle and sew between the eyes. Make little crosses of brown ink all over him, one bar of light and the other of dark. White owls are pretty with black ink crosses on the ruffe around their eyes.—Boys and Girls.

The Game of Echo.

Echo can be played by any number of persons, one of whom is chosen to tell a story, and the others take the names of various characters or objects that are to be mentioned in it. When the story teller mentions the assumed name of a player once, that player must repeat it twice, and if it is mentioned twice in succession, it must be repeated once. Any player who does not echo his name, or who repeats it the wrong number of times, must pay a forfeit. The object of the story teller is to make his story so entertaining that the players will forget to echo. If the story is to be about a fight with a wolf, for instance, the names assumed by the players might be hunter, gun, powder, bullet, knife, cave, rock, tree, etc.; or if a shipwreck is the subject, the names might be ship, captain, mate, mast, sail, tiller, keel, passenger, wave, wind, etc.

trotted Bozzie and got it. A little boy put his hand on Bozzie's head, and then the boy thought of his age. Bozzie gave ten quick barks, which was correct.

Save Your Daughter

No. 185 West 68th Street,
New York City, N. Y., April 8, 1903.

Wine of Cardui has been a blessing to my home. I have often found that it was a great relief when I was weary or in pain, but I am especially grateful for what it did for our daughter and only child. I noticed that her menses were lax and she suffered with headaches and giddiness, heavy-ness in the abdomen and about the loins. This seriously interfered with her studies and she had to discontinue several of them.

A visitor calling on me and discussing the matter suggested that I give her a course of your Wine of Cardui as it had relieved her daughter of a similar trouble. After my daughter had used it for five weeks I found a great improvement in her looks, health and behavior. In fact she was a different girl. The flow became regular and we have not had any difficulty since.

WINE OF CARDUI

Here the menstrual function had not been properly started and the unnatural condition was making the young girl an invalid. The headaches and giddiness indicated something more than a mere temporary ailment. They were symptoms of a functional weakness which would become more and more aggravated as years went by. But Mrs. Thompson was ready to take advice for her daughter's welfare and she gave the little sufferer Wine of Cardui and now she is a well young woman.

If your daughter is sickly and frequently ailing the letter of this good mother contains the best advice you can follow.

Wine of Cardui is the menstrual regulator that cures nine cases out of every ten. Young girls, mothers and aged women find this tonic indispensable.

EUREKA COLLEGE

WINS FIRST

Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest Was Held at Galesburg Friday Evening.

The annual contest of the Illinois Inter-collegiate Oratorical association was held Friday night in Galesburg and resulted in a victory for the representative of Eureka; Knox, second; Blackburn, third; Monmouth, fourth; Illinois, fifth; and Wesleyan, sixth. The contest was held in the Congregational church of Galesburg and the speakers were heard by a large audience.

The schools represented, the speakers and their subjects were as follows:

Eureka—E. L. Lyon: "Profits of Emancipation."

Knox—O. S. Edgerton: "Ulysses S. Grant."

Blackburn—H. E. Cunningham: "The Apostles of Africa."

Monmouth—S. McClanahan: "Heroes of Oregon."

Illinois—C. E. Carter: "The World's Ideal."

Wesleyan—D. S. Jessor: "Savonara."

The judges were as follows: On thought and composition, President D. F. Bradley, of Iowa college; President William H. Sallman, of Orlington college, Minnesota, and Rev. G. B. Soares, of Oak Park. The judges of delivery were Rev. A. K. Du Bois, W. J. Chase and H. E. Brown.

All the speakers were greeted with enthusiastic and impartial applause and excellent feeling was manifested between the rival colleges. C. E. Carter, the representative of Illinois college, was a favorite with the audience and it was thought by many that the contest lay between him and Edgerton of Knox. His delivery was magnificent, and surpassed the expectations of even his friends. The program was relieved at intervals by musical numbers, which were loudly applauded.

After the contest a reception was tendered the visitors, and a delightful evening was spent by all.

The winner of the contest last evening will represent this state in the interstate oratorical contest, to be held next May.

The representative of Illinois colleges was accompanied to Galesburg by R. E. Harmon, Joseph Sinclair, Walter Bellatti and Herbert Graves, the delegates from Illinois college and a number of others.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Simple Homemade Ointment That Will Cure Eczema.

The poisonous weed commonly called "Jimson" that grows in lots when manure has been spread is the principal ingredient of an ointment that will cure eczema. The other ingredients are a pound of beeswax, two pounds of mutton tallow and a piece of rosin the size of a hickory nut. Into a boiler clip the leaves from a dozen stalks of the weed. Pour over the leaves a quart and a half (no more) of cold water and cover and let it all boil for thirty minutes. Strain through a colander into a large stew pan. Strain the liquid, of which there should be about a quart, through a cheesecloth to take out all sand, etc. Put back into the stew pan with the tallow and beeswax cut into small pieces and the little piece of rosin. Let all boil for twenty minutes, then pour into a shallow bowl and cool.

The ointment will be on top and will look like yellow soap. Lift it out of the dish and throw away the liquid remaining. Cut into pieces and put away. The relief will be immediate and a cure in two or three weeks.

CAPTURE CLASS PRESIDENT

College Spirit Rampant—Three Students Enjoy Unexpected Outing.

Bound hand and foot, rudely hustled into waiting carriages, driven six miles south of the city and there made to cater to the whims and fancies of their captors was the fate of three members of the Whipple class, '06, Friday evening, President W. A. Baxter and Members Stone and Fox. Blair was one of the captives for a few moments, but made his escape and carried the news of the fate of his companions, who were poring over their books (?) calm and unperturbed, in ignorance of the dilemma of their class mates.

Arrived at their destination south of the city, the members of Whipple '06, who had effected the coup, prepared for the ceremonies of the evening. After securely tying the captives to nearby trees the members of the class gathered material for a huge bonfire. As the crackling blaze rose to a dizzy height and brought warmth and comfort to all but the captive students, the captors proceeded to open lunch boxes containing toothsome viands, and disposed of the contents with great glee, while the three outside the pale stood silently by, unwilling witnesses of the merriment and good cheer.

They were informed by the joyous company not to get restless, as everything comes to those who wait, and that their time was coming, and come it did, but not at the feast.

The captors felt that in consideration of the part the captives were to play in the program of the evening that the less they ate the less would be their danger from appendicitis and so they restrained their generous feelings and kept the contents of the lunch boxes solely to themselves.

It would take too long to describe the stunts that followed, but the reader can use his imagination, and when that is exhausted borrow a neighbor's, and after multiplying by three he may have some appreciation of the exigencies of the occasion.

Speeches provided a part of the program and President Baxter, of the middle prep class, was assigned the subject, "Better be of the Elect than the Elected"; Fox, "The Sheep and the Goats which Are We," and Stone, "The Vacant Chair."

R. Y. Rowe, president of the class of '05, then responded to the sentiment, "Our Progress," and amid cheers pronounced the benediction, while the embers burned low.

Amid fond good byes the captors repaired to their carriages and drove to the city, leaving behind the principals in a performance that will never fade from memory or be dimmed by the flight of time.

In happy mood the captors arrived at Cherry's livery barn about 11 o'clock, sounding the peens of a victorious host, when to their surprise their tune was interrupted by the onslaught of the class of '06, who had been informed of the course of events by Blair, and a lively class scrap was soon in progress.

The night force at Cherry's barn, not being accustomed to the gentle tactics and love taps (?) that are frequently interchanged by college students, thought they were viewing an imitation of the Russo-Japanese war, and sent in a hurry call for Captain Kennedy and the night police force. The policemen took as many captives as their number would permit and the rest of the students followed in the rear while the march to the police station began.

Arguments that would have done credit to the mighty Webster were put forth by the students, who pleaded their case before the defenders of the law, but to no avail. Finally, Principal Stoops was appealed to, and after a conference with the authorities and a curtain lecture from Captain Kennedy the boys were allowed to again enjoy life, liberty, etc., and dispersed to their homes.

THE OTHER SIDE

All stories have two sides, and some four sides and a ceiling, is the way the old adage puts it.

Soon after the ears of the reporter had heard the proud story of the victorious class, in walked the three captives, slightly disfigured, but still in the ring. They related how they were in total ignorance, but wanting the plans of their class mates for the class feast, of which they themselves were intotal ignorance, but wanting to be good fellows and not in any way interfere with the arrangements for the evening, called upon the muses to assist them, and told a story that was coherent and that dovetailed to perfection. The more their auditors laughed the more they drew upon their resources and between them managed to tell a good tale that was worthy of a better cause. From the fact that the members of the class of '06 had not planned to hold a feast last evening the captive members feel that notwithstanding they were compelled to spend a bad quarter of an hour as unwelcome guests of their rivals, that "He who laughs last, laughs best," and thus endeth the first lesson.

Miss Caroline Phelps and Miss Julia Larned, both of Chicago and former residents of this city, arrived here Friday evening and will spend a few days in the city. They are guests at the Dunlap hotel.

DEATH RECORD

FLYNN.

John Marion Flynn, the 8-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn, residing three miles northeast of Chapin, died suddenly Thursday night. The child suffered an acute attack of indigestion and passed away while lying beside his mother, without her being aware that the child was dead until she attempted to move the body, when she found it cold.

Owing to the circumstances of the death, the coroner was notified and Deputy Coroner A. D. Arnold went to Chapin Friday morning and held an inquest. The facts brought out were in accordance of the above. The only witnesses examined were the father and mother of the child and Dr. G. M. Briggs, the physician, who was called in the case.

The funeral will probably be held to day.

PHILLIPS.

The wife of E. O. Phillips, of St. Louis, formerly of Virginia and Beardstown, who is well known in this city, died suddenly in St. Louis Thursday.

Funeral services will be held in Monmouth Monday.

YANKEE-TURKISH ADMIRAL.

Young American Skipper High in the Sultan's Favor.

Captain R. L. Buckman, who became widely acquainted in marine circles several years ago when master of whaleback steamers that ran to Norfolk, Va., is now a vice admiral in the Turkish navy at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Captain Buckman was selected by the Cramps to take the Turkish cruiser Medjida from Hampton Roads to Constantinople, where the sultan became personally interested in him and induced him to remain in the service. In addition to his rank of vice admiral the fortunate young American mariner is also on the staff of the sultan as his personal aid. He has also been given a free hand in any reforms which he may decide to make in the navy.

A DOZEN TIMES A NIGHT.

Mr. Owen Dunn, of Benton Ferry, W. Va., writes: "I have had kidney and bladder trouble for years, and it became so bad that I was obliged to get up at least a dozen times a night. I never received any permanent benefit from any medicine until I tried Foley's Kidney Cure. After using two bottles I am cured. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store."

Somebody's Going to Get This Heater

And it is not going to cost them a cent.

Here's the reason: We want to demonstrate that this heater, known as the Buck's Hot Blast, is absolutely the best and most satisfactory made: so on Oct. 10th and 11th, at about 9 o'clock, we will give a demonstration in front of our store, showing just how and why a ton and a quarter of the cheapest kind of soft coal used in this heater will produce the same amount of heat as a ton of hard coal will in a base burner.

Every married person visiting our store up to the time of the demonstration will be given a ticket entitling them to one chance to win this wonderful heater, which is valued at $25. Drawing takes place directly after the demonstration, and holder of winning ticket must be present. The heater is now on exhibition in our window.
